INTRODUCTION

The Census Bureau developed the Neighborhood Statistics Program (NSP) to assist localities that needed statistics for recognized subareas, generally called "neighborhoods." Through this program, considerable demographic, social, economic, and housing information based on tabulations of 100-percent data and sample data from the 1980 census is available for the locally defined neighborhoods. The statistics are used to identify the socioeconomic characteristics of the population residing in each area, to gauge the possible qualification of the area for participation in federal and other programs, and to help in formulating programs needed by neighborhood residents.

The Neighborhood Publication Area (NPA) is the total area within which neighborhoods were defined by each participant in the NSP. The NPA may be an entire municipio, if it is all block numbered, or the block numbered portion of the municipio. The NPA's were generally delineated by the local participants, but were subject to review and revision by the Bureau to assure that NPA's did not overlap and otherwise met the requirements of the Bureau. Individual neighborhoods were identified within each NPA by the officially designated local contact person for the NPA. Neighborhood boundaries could cross any political or tabulation boundary within the NPA as long as they did not also split census blocks or overlap other neighborhood boundaries.

Neighborhood publication area reports are available on microfiche or paperprints for each NPA. In each report, the data are presented for the total NPA, each neighborhood in the NPA, and the remainder (if any) of the NPA: i.e., that portion of the NPA containing no neighborhoods. The neighborhood data are also available for Puerto Rico on Summary Tape Files 1G and 3G. Numeric codes for the geographic areas covering each neighborhood publication area and the component neighborhoods are available in the Neighborhood Equivalency File and on microfiche. Tapes, reports, and microfiche can be purchased from Data User Services Division, Customer Services, Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233. Phone: (301) 763-4100.

Maps showing NPA and neighborhood boundaries are not available from the Census Bureau. Maps with the appropriate boundaries can be constructed using the Neighborhood Equivalency File noted above and maps showing the census areas; or maps may be available from the local participant in the NSP.

STF 4 (Files A and B) provides data covering virtually all of the population and housing subjects collected on a sample basis, as well as some of the complete-count subjects. Data are summarized for areas similar to those shown in STF 2, except that data for places are limited to those with 2,500 or more inhabitants. The data include those shown in the PHC80-2, PC80-1-C, and HC80-1-B reports.

STF 5 contains data on various population and housing subjects collected on a sample basis and provides detailed tabulations and cross-classifications for Puerto Rico standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSA's), municipios, cities of 50,000 or more inhabitants, and central cities. The data include those shown in the PC80-1-D and HC80-2 reports.

Census of Population and Housing, 1980: Geographic Identification Code Scheme. The file lists names and numeric codes for states, counties, county subdivisions (MCD's/CCDS), and places for which 1980 census data were tabulated. It includes much of the information from the PHC80-R5 Geographic Identification Code Scheme report.

Master Area Reference File (MARF). An extract of STF 1 designed for those who require a master list of geographic codes and areas, along with basic census counts. The file contains records for Puerto Rico, municipios, municipio subdivisions, places, census tracts, block groups in areas that are block numbered and enumeration districts in areas that are not block numbered. Each record shows the total population by number of housing units, number of households, number of families, and a few other items. A similar file also is available for the 50 States and the District of Columbia.

Public-Use Microdata Samples. Public use microdata sample files containing most population and housing characteristics as shown on a sample of individual census records. These files contain neither names nor addresses and geographic identification is sufficiently broad to protect confidentiality.

There are three mutually exclusive samples, the A sample including 5 percent of all persons and housing units, and the B and C samples including 1 percent of all persons and housing units.

Equal Opportunity Employment (EEO) Special File, Puerto Rico. This file provides sample census data with specified relevance to EEO and affirmative action uses. The file contains two tabulations, one with detailed occupation data and the other with years of school completed by age. The data in both tabulations are cross classified by sex. These data are provided for Puerto Rico, municipios, standard metropolitan statistical areas (SMSA's), and zonas urbanas with a population of 50,000 or more.

STF 3G PUERTO RICO FILE DESCRIPTION

This file presents 1980 census population and housing data based on tabulations of sample data for locally defined neighborhoods. Complete-count data from the 1980 census for locally defined neighborhoods are available on STF 1G Puerto Rico.

File Structure and Geographic Coverage

For each geographic area there is a 10,080-character census logical record. Because of its large record size, the file is divided into five segments of 2,016 characters each. These segments are identified within the geographic identification section repeated for each segment.

The first segment of each census logical record begins with 252 characters of geographic information and the suppression flags, while each subsequent segment begins with 102 characters of geographic information.

The record segments are arranged so that individual tables do not cross segment boundaries. Because of this, most segments have some padding at the end. The following chart illustrates the segmentation on the STF 3G Puerto Rico file. For a concise description of the geographic coverage of STF 3G Puerto Rico, see Appendix A.

STF 3G Puerto Rico Segment Arrangement

File STF 3G Puerto Rico. As shown in Figure 1, summary level data are presented for the neighborhood publication area and for each neighborhood. Each summary is identified by a summary level code in positions 10-11 of the record as well as at the beginning of each segment. Following Figure 1 is a discussion of each summary level in the hierarchy.

Neighborhood publication area (NPA)

Neighborhood or remainder of the NPA

The neighborhood publication area (NPA) record (Summary Level 42) contains a summary for the area within which neighborhoods were defined. Each of the NPA's are defined as an entire blocked municipio or the block portion of the municipio.

The neighborhood record (Summary Level 43) contains a summary for each neighborhood within the NPA and the remainder of the NPA; i.e., the portion of each NPA that contains no neighborhoods.

Calculation of Medians in STF 3G Puerto Rico

Calculation of median values is done using a continuous distribution with the whole number as the mid-point of the class interval. However, if the median falls within the upper or lower interval, it is set to a specified value. Listed below in Figure 2 are the upper and lower intervals for each median in STF 3G Puerto Rico and the median value set when it falls within that interval.

OVERVIEW

1980 Census Summary Tape Program

Computer-readable data from the 1980 census include both summary data and microdata. Summary data include Summary Tape Files (STF's) 1 to 5, which are generally comparable to the First Count through Sixth Count files from the 1970 census. In addition to the files in the STF series, other summary data files released by the Bureau for Puerto Rico include the Master Area Reference File which provides geographic and selected population and housing items from STF 1 and the Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Special File. All of these files contain data summarized to various levels of geography. Microdata files, on the other hand, contain disclosure-free household and person records from the census. These files are similar to the 1970 Public Use Sample files and are being released for each State and Puerto Rico on a flow basis as of April 1983.

Content and Geographic Coverage of Summary Tape Files

Summary Tape Files vary by summary level of geography, detail of information, and whether they include 100-percent or sample data. STF's 1 and 2 provide data based on the set of census questions asked of all persons and housing units. These data are 100-percent data. STF's 3, 4, and 5 contain sample data or estimates based on the responses of a sample of population and housing units. The latter STF's contain more extensive housing and population information.

STF 1 provides the maximum possible geographic detail available from the census: data for individual blocks in block-numbered areas and for enumeration districts outside block-numbered areas. The lowest level of geography provided by STF 2 is census tract, or minor civil division (MCD) and places of 1,000 or more inhabitants in nontraced areas. The lowest level for STF 3 is the block group or enumeration district, while the smallest geographic unit for STF 4 is census tract, or MCD and places of 2,500 or more inhabitants in nontraced areas. STF 5's lowest geographic level is the standard metropolitan statistical area (SMSA), central city(ies), other places of 50,000 or more inhabitants, and municipios of 50,000 or more inhabitants. STF's 1 to 4 consist of multiple files, each file featuring specific levels of geography. Figure 4 on the following page details the geographic levels in each STF.

For comparison purposes, STF 1 is similar in subject matter and geographic detail to the First and Third Count files for 1970. STF's 2 and 4 are roughly comparable to the 1970 Second and Fourth Counts, respectively. STF 3 is comparable to the 1970 Fifth Count, while STF 5 corresponds to the 1970 Sixth Count. To summarize, STF 1 contains more detailed geography but less subject matter detail than STF 2. Similarly, STF 3 contains more detailed geography but less subject matter detail than STF 4. STF's 1 and 2 contain complete-count data while STF's 3 and 4 contain sample estimates. Finally, STF 5 contains sample estimates aggregated to a higher level of geography than other files, but which are presented in the most subject matter detail.

1/ In addition to summary areas presented on the Summary Tape Files, geographic area codes are included for areas such as Subbarrio, District Office, and Standard Federal Administrative Region.

2/ Population size cutoffs for the presentation of Place level data in the STF's are as follows:

STF 1A all places
STF 1B all places

STF 3A all places

STF 2A 10,000 or more
STF 2B 1,000 or more

STF 4A 10,000 or more
STF 4B 2,500 or more

STF 5 50,000 or more

3/ Multiple summary level codes for a Summary Area indicate a series of very similar summary levels which are presented in identical STF files. A specific listing is shown below of summary levels which are grouped together from the chart. (A slash mark "/" is used to indicate "within.")

1980 Census Maps

Users may need certain types of maps for the geographic area(s) they are extracting from the file(s). To determine which maps best define the geographic area(s), compare the geographic coverage of each file (see Appendix A) with the description of each type of 1980 census map (see below).*

The maps used in conjunction with the above summary tape files consist of four basic types: municipio maps, place maps, place-and-vicinity maps, and Metropolitan Map Series (MMS) or Vicinity Map Series (VMS). Ordering information for these maps may be obtained from Data User Services Division, Customer Services (Maps), Bureau of the Census, Washington, D.C. 20233.

All four map types have several characteristics in common:

- To improve legibility, most 1980 maps are at a larger scale than were the comparable 1970 maps.
- Symbols used for the various boundaries are consistent for all four types of maps.
- Names, identifying numbers, and boundaries are shown where appropriate on all maps for municipios, minor civil divisions (MCD's), places, census tracts or block numbering areas (BNA's) where present, enumeration districts (ED's) (in those areas which are not block numbered), and blocks.
- All maps show metric, feet, and mile scales.
- All maps containing block-numbered areas are available from the U.S. Government Printing Office.

The following paragraphs present a brief description of each type of map.

Municipio Maps. Municipio maps are the backbone of the Bureau's map coverage. Theoretically, with a complete set of these maps the overall picture of the census geographic framework for Puerto Rico is shown. Most maps in the municipio series are at a scale of 1:20,000, or about 3 inches to the mile. Municipio maps were created by superimposing boundaries of areas for which data are tabulated on maps reformatted by the Bureau from base maps prepared by the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS), and updated by local government agencies in Puerto Rico. The following geographic area boundaries are shown on municipio maps where appropriate: municipios, minor civil divisions (barrios, ciudades, pueblos), places, census tracts or block numbering areas (BNA's), and enumeration districts (ED's) or numbered blocks.

Place Maps. For places not covered on MMS or VMS sheets where most of the development is contained within the boundaries established for them, the Bureau uses place maps. The scale of place maps varies from place to place. Most were created by superimposing boundaries for areas for which data are tabulated on base maps supplied by the Puerto Rico government. On the municipio map, shading is added to indicate the area covered by the place map; i.e., the place map is regarded as an inset to the municipio map. The geographic area boundaries shown on place maps are the same as for municipio maps.

*Neighborhoods are not represented on census maps available to the public.
